Here you'll have the chance to explore art galleries, do some shopping, grab a coffee or some lahmacun (Turkish style pizza), and if you're lucky, stumble across a street show. You are at leisure to explore and shop at the oldest market in the world – Grand Bazaar and Mahmutpasha Bazaar. Remember when bargaining slow and steady wins the race and never rush the process! While many shops accept credit cards, it's always best to have cash on hand, as some shops may not accept cards or have a minimum purchase requirement. Additionally, having cash will give you greater flexibility when bargaining with vendors and making smaller purchases. Vendors will accept the Turkish Lira, Euro, or US Dollars.

This afternoon witnesses the lively atmosphere and the colourful sights and sounds of the Grand Bazaar, as you bargain with the vendors, sip tea, taste local delicacies, and mingle with the locals and tourists alike within this labyrinth of covered walkways lined with storefronts.

Wandering through the Grand Bazaar is much more than shopping; it's a cultural experience. For those of you who aren't big shoppers, appreciate the people-watching opportunities and the chance to explore alleys built during the Ottoman Empire.

The Grand Bazaar is one of the largest and oldest covered markets in the world and dates to the 15th Century. It has been the centre of trade, commerce, and craftsmanship for centuries and covers an area of 30.7 hectares, has 61 streets, 22 gates and over 4,000 shops selling a variety of goods, from carpets, jewellery, ceramics, spices, antiques, to souvenirs, clothing, books, and more. Here you are sure to find something that suits your taste and budget and no doubt you will be able to pick up something to remember your stay.

Mahmutpaşa Bazaar is a hidden gem renowned for its affordability and product variety and is located between the Grand Bazaar and Eminönü.
